PINES AND BLISTER RUST.

An intensive campaign against blister rust which is threatening the entire white pine industry of New York state will start this week in the white pine belt in the northeastern part of the state.

Camps will be established for crews of men sent out by Conservation Commissioner MacDonald for the eradication of current and gooseberry bushes by which the disease is spread, and the Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture will cooperate with the state forces through agents who will demonstrate to the owners of white pine lands the proper methods for checking the spread of the disease.

The white pine belt in New York state extends from the vicinity of Lake George, Warren county through Essex county and into Clinton county, covering approximately 800,000 acres and the value of the white pine on this area is estimated at upwards of $25,000,000.

White pine blister rust was introduced in New York in the years of 1900 to 1912 on white pine planting stock from Europe. It requires both white pines and current or gooseberry bushes for its spread.

The disease cannot spread from pine to pine. It must pass from pine to current or gooseberry bushes to have power to harm the pine; hence destroying the current and gooseberry bushes in any given area stops further infection there.

Currents and gooseberries, both wild and cultivated, are heavily and generally infected from Lake George to the Canadian line. Wild current and gooseberry bushes are so close to the pines throughout the greater portion of this pine belt that the only hope of saving the pine lies in the immediate eradication of current and gooseberry bushes in pine areas that are worth protecting.

Compared with the annual returns from well-stocked pine growth, the average stand can be protected at small cost. No other forest tree is so profitable with as little work as white pine and it need not be destroyed if action is prompt and on an adequate scale.

A few small seedling and current bushes may remain after the eradication work has been done but these can grow for about five years before they attain sufficient size to infect the nearby pine seriously.

The work done by the Conservation Commission in preceding years has demonstrated that the spread of the blister rust can be checked by the eradication of all current and gooseberry bushes within 200 or 300 yards of white pine trees, but for this work to be completely successful there must be hearty cooperation by the owners of white pine land and persons living in the vicinity. Property owners who have white pine should immediately eradicate all current and gooseberries within at least one half mile of the pine trees wherein there is any danger of infection by blister rust.

Star Class Banquets.

The Star class of the Sunday school of the United Presbyterian church of this city will have a banquet in the church parlors Wednesday evening at 6:30. Members of the Star class and members of the Occawana class will be present to the number of fifty.

Miss Helene Huether, president of the class, will be toastmaster for the occasion. Other speakers on the program will be Arthur Soybolt, who will undoubtedly speak of his recent trip, Robert Hall, teacher of the class, Ethel Downie of the Star class, and Marie Doig of the Occawana class. It is expected that Miss Downie will undertake to inform the members of the Occawana class of the various duties and joys appertaining to the Star class of which they are soon to become members. The response will be given by Miss Doig.

The banquet will be served by the Ladies Aid of the church. The color scheme will be red and white and will be faithfully carried out in the colors of the flowers, napkins and even the "strawberries and cream."

Awarded State Road Contract.

The Shaughnessy-Maxle Construction company of this city has been awarded the contract for the construction of the state road authorized between Tannersville and Haines Falls in Greene county. The road, which will be 3 1/2 miles long, will be constructed of reinforced concrete. Work will start about June 1 or as soon as machinery can be gotten to the spot. The Shaughnessy-Maxle company is composed of T. J. and R. E. Maxle of the Maxle Theatre corporation and W. P. Shaughnessy, formerly of Albany, who has been doing the concrete work on the Maxle theatre here.

Fined for Dumping Rubbish in Street.

A lesson to those disposed to clutter the alleys in back of their business places with waste paper and rubbish will be the $5 fine meted out by Judge Huntington yesterday to William Georgeron, one of the proprietors of the Pastime Billiard parlor, for throwing rubbish into Water street in back of his store. A city ordinance expressly forbids such acts and it is the intention of police authorities strictly to enforce the law.

Unusually Large Trout.
W. A. VanAulen of this city had unusual fishing luck at Elk Creek Monday, landing two large native brook trout, one 15 1/2 inches long and weighing one pound and 14 1/2 ounces and the other measuring 11 inches and tipping the scales at just a pound. The larger specimen was caught on a fly and took 15 minutes to land.

MEETING OF LIBRARIANS

Forty Representatives Present at Gathering in Cobleskill Yesterday—Pleasant and Instructive Sessions.

There were 40 library representatives, including librarians, trustees and the training class of the Cobleskill High school, at the district library meeting held in Cobleskill yesterday morning and afternoon.

The morning session was held in the administration building of the State School of Agriculture, where at noon the librarians were the guests of the Cobleskill board of library trustees at a delicious luncheon beautifully served by the students of the Home Economics department. Miss Celia King, librarian, and teacher of English subjects at the State school, and Margery Quigley of the Endicott Free library, were conductors at this session. The subjects for discussion were "The Library Law of New York State," "Library Fines," and "Teaching Rural Readers."

The afternoon session, which was held at the High school, was conducted by Miss Quigley and Mrs. Blackall, the latter the efficient librarian of the Huntington Memorial library of Oneonta. The subjects discussed were "Lists of Books Submitted by the State Department," and "The Service of the Public Library to the Schools." The High school library—an unusually well-selected and efficiently administered library of its class—was inspected and afterwards the adjoining public library, the youngest save that at Unadilla in the district. With these inspections a very pleasant and profitable day came to a close.

Mrs. Lambert of the public library would have to tell her library's age, or rather youthfulness, for under her unusually efficient administration it would be a creditable result for a three years' growth instead of a year and a half.

Much of the rapid advancement of public library growth and spirit in Cobleskill has been due to the initiative of Mrs. Franklin, the teacher of English in the High school for many years, and a woman well known in this vicinity.

Oneonta was represented by Mrs. E. W. Blackall and Mrs. Hoxsie, librarian and assistant librarian of the Huntington Memorial library.

CHECKS FOR APRIL MILK

Dairymen's League Farmers Will Be Paid Tomorrow at Rate of $1.33 1/2 or Below Actual Cost of Production.

Checks will be issued tomorrow by the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., to pay for April milk. The pooled price, after deductions are made for expenses, advertising, depreciation, etc., is $1.32, not including a deduction for three per cent milk at the 201-210 mile zone. From this the farmers loan to their association ten cents a hundred pounds for the acquiring of plants and equipment, for which certificates of indebtedness are issued. This deduction has been reduced from the usual loan of 20 cents a hundred because of the low price.

The cash price paid farmers is $1.65 below the cash price for March. If consideration is given to the increased volume of pooled milk for April over that for March, poolers will receive more total money for April even though the pooled price declined somewhat. The price, however, is below the farmer's cost of production and is due to the large volume of milk and also to the fact that a minority of the dairymen have failed to support the pool.

A statement which will accompany the April checks to poolers shows that 51,823 members participated in the April pool. The actual number, however, will be approximately 54,000, because not all of the poolers have reported at this time. Of the 51,823 members already reported in the pool, 36,808 delivered milk to 637 plants operated by dealers and 15,016 members delivered to 127 plants operated by the Co-operative association. It will be noted that aside from the large amount of milk which the Co-operative association sells to the regular dealers, it is becoming a very large factor in the market because of the large number of plants which it operates itself.

CONGRESSMAN AT DELHI

Hon. J. D. Clarke Invites Members of House Agricultural Committee to Visit His Farm.

At the invitation of Hon. J. D. Clarke, several members of the Agricultural committee will spend May 28 and 29 in Delhi at Mr. Clark's farm. On Monday, May 29, at 1:30 p. m. at the opera house, Delhi, a meeting will be held to which every man and woman in the whole district is invited to be present. In addition to short talks by the representatives from the various leading agricultural organizations of the four counties in this Congressional district—Broome, Chenango, Delaware and Otsego—it is expected that Chairman Haugen of Iowa, Congressman McLaughlin of Michigan, Congressman Voigt of Wisconsin, who is the author of the "fille milk" bill, Congressman Ten Eyck of Albany, of the Joint Agricultural Inquiry committee and Dean A. R. Mann of the New York State College of Agriculture, will speak.

Mr. Clarke has written that he also expects Congressmen Williams of Illinois, Tinsler of Kansas, Ciarque of Minnesota, Thompson of Ohio and possibly one or two others to be present. These men are all on the Agricultural committee of which Mr. Clarke is a member. This committee is the one that makes appropriations for the Smith-Lever act and other appropriations which have to do with agriculture, including those for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis and the horn borer, all of which are vitally important to the agriculture of this section. Congressman Knutson of Minnesota is also expected.

The farm organizations of the four counties are especially invited. This should prove to be one of the biggest farm meetings ever held in Delhi. Come and bring your neighbors with you.

Appropos of the "Twenty and Thirty Years Ago" articles which of late have been daily features of The Star, a regular reader of this paper has been kind enough to send to the editorial rooms an article from the Oneonta Spy of June, 1892, in which reference is made to a prophecy, then already 53 years old, of the Greater Oneonta which present residents know as a reality. The article, which was from the pen of George W. Reynolds, at one time editor of The Oneonta Herald, but then of the Spy, is

Chamber of Commerce Directors Partake of Hospitality of President—Zoning Discussed and Health Demonstration Boomed.

President Roscoe C. Briggs of Oneonta Chamber of Commerce acted as host for the Board of Directors at a dinner meeting held last evening in the dining room of the Briggs' Lumber company's plant. The delightful repast was enjoyed by 14 of the 16 directors, the one director absent being out of town on a week's trip, and a vote of thanks was heartily extended the host for his thoughtful hospitality.

Dr. David H. Mills, chairman of the Chamber's Forum committee, also was present and the proposition of regular dinner or luncheon meetings once each month in place of forum meetings in the evening was discussed. Action was laid over until fall, due to the approaching summer months.

Zoning came in for considerable discussion and the directors expressed the sentiment that citizens generally do not seem to comprehend the tremendous value zoning ordinances would be for property owners of Oneonta, although those who have heard explanations of the subject almost unanimously favor the drafting of such ordinances for Oneonta as would conform with local needs and sentiment.

Adoption of resolutions requesting the State Committee of Tuberculosis and Public Health to hold the five-year health demonstration of the Milbank Memorial fund in Otsego county was ordered at the meeting. Various committee reports showing encouraging progress were received and several transfers of membership were approved.

—The Rainy Days Always Come!

The "eat, drink and be merry" idea is all right if you have something laid away for the morrow—if you are saving a generous portion of your income.

The "rainy days" inevitably drench those who fail to save in the days of prosperity. Time passes swiftly—and on the park benches of every city are striking examples of those who failed to note its passing.

One of the fundamental purposes of this institution is to encourage saving—and thousands have responded to our call.

A WOMAN GREATLY BELOVED

Mrs. Walter S. Whipple Expires Tuesday After Brief Illness—Fifteen Years Treasurer of Woman's Club—Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

Seldom has the illness of a resident of this city been followed from day to day with more general feeling and expression of concern, or the death of any one elicited more universal heartfelt regret than was true in the case of Mrs. Walter S. Whipple, who, after a little more than two weeks' illness expired at 12:50 p. m. yesterday at the family home at 81 Chestnut street. From the first her illness, which was of neuritis of the heart, was such as to occasion the gravest anxiety. For a time, however, her condition seemed to improve, but for several days it had been sorrowfully evident that the end was at hand.

The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at her late home on Chestnut street. Her pastor, Rev. Dr. R. M. Johns of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will officiate, and interment will be in the family plot in Glenwood cemetery.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Clara Belle Wilson, was born in Camden, this state, January 25, 1871, and was a daughter of the late Herbert E. and Julia (Crawford) Wilson. Her earlier life was spent in that place and at Norwich, but in 1885 the family moved to Oneonta, where their home was for a long time on Central avenue. She was married November 5, 1890, to Walter S. Whipple, and practically all her life from that time was spent in the home on Chestnut street where on Tuesday she died. She was from early girlhood a member of the Methodist Episcopal church; she was also a charter member of the Woman's club of Oneonta and for the past fifteen years its treasurer. She was also deeply interested in the work of the Red Cross, giving to it her unstinted, unvarying and unselfish efforts during the entire period of the war. In short there was no religious, charitable or social movement in the city which did not have her aid and sympathetic interest.

Deeply as her death will be deplored, however, in the wide circle of acquaintance which her sympathetic nature had won, it is in the family circle and that of her more immediate friends that she will longest be missed, and her passing the most deeply deplored. A devoted wife and mother, a loyal and steadfast friend and withal a woman of most engaging personality, her home was long the center of a generous hospitality which will long be remembered by those whose good fortune it had been to know her intimately.

In their bereavement heartfelt sympathy will be extended to the immediate family, consisting of her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Herbert C. Gettman, and a niece, Miss Dorothy Coats, all of this city. She leaves also one aunt, Mrs. R. M. Bush of Camden, this state. Her only sister, Mrs. Elmer E. Coats, died two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Whipple had spent the past winter in California. During the entire period of their western sojourn Mrs. Whipple had been in excellent health, and had greatly enjoyed the stay on the Pacific coast, and there was no reason on her return to Oneonta five weeks ago to anticipate that her useful and apparently vigorous life was so near an end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wells left yesterday morning for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McCrum, in the Adirondacks. Mr. Wells will return the last of the week, Mrs. Wells remaining for some time longer.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Hall of Cooperstown were in the city for a few hours yesterday calling upon friends. It was recently announced that Dr. Hall would remove to Millford but the transfer of the property there to him was not completed by the seller and they will remain in Cooperstown. Mrs. Hall, who had been ill some weeks since, is in improved health, her friends are pleased to note.

Miss Frances Satterlee, who for the past year had been teaching at Rock Springs, Wyoming, and who for a few days has been a guest of Mrs. J. P. Harrington, left yesterday morning for her home in Victor Mills, Saratoga county. Miss Satterlee is much pleased with her work and the scenery and general conditions in Wyoming and will return there at the opening of the school year.

Billy Allen Company Pleases.

The Billy Allen company, which is appearing all this week at the Oneonta theatre, is about the biggest thing in vaudeville that has ever visited the city, while the costumes, scenery and electrical effects are superior to those companies usually appearing in popular-priced vaudeville.

At the matinee today, the company will appear in "Don't Tell My Wife," which will be found equal in every respect to "Where Daddy Are You?" "Don't Tell My Wife" is shown in three scenes, with entirely new scenery and with many specialties and musical numbers that will further enhance the Billy Allen reputation. Some new living art studies will be revealed, and the Four Pals will harmonize for the pleasure of the patrons. Comedy is ever present in "Don't Tell My Wife," and a peppy, funny show is assured. The management freely recommends this play.

Queen Esther Give Play.

The Queen Esther society of the First Methodist church of this city is planning to present the play, "Sophrone's Wedding" in the church parlors, Wednesday evening, June 13th. Many well-known young people will take part, and it is expected that the production of the play will be very successful. The play is a comedy from beginning to end. The story deals with the trials of a girl just returned from a mission who strives to make a good impression on the home-town folks and fails until she finally obeys public sentiment and gets married. The cast of characters will be announced later in the month.

Foreign Missionary Society Meets.

Mrs. Bruce Larabee and Mrs. Clayton Coats were elected delegates and Miss Nettie M. Murdock and Mrs. Carl VanBuren alternates to the Northfield Summer school at the meeting last evening in the church parlors of the Young Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church. The meeting was in the form of a covered dish luncheon and proved very enjoyable to all. Mrs. John Hill gave a delightful talk on colleges in India, China and Japan. The box to be sent to India will be packed June 6 at the home of Mrs. Earl Parish.

Keeping Up With the Linneys.

F. P. A. in the New York World has the following in his column taken from our neighbor, the Otsego Farmer:

"Will Linney and wife have begun housekeeping in this place and were very busy all the week moving their furniture, setting up stoves and getting the house in order."

"Mr. and Mrs. Will Linney were in Richfield Springs last week purchasing articles for housekeeping."

"Truman Williams has hauled up a large pile of wood for Will Linney."

Why She Changed:

"I have always used the cheaper baking powders, supposing them just as good as Royal but I invested in a can of Royal Baking Powder and now find all my baking so much improved that I will use no other kind."

DEATH OF R. M. REYNOLDS

Respected and Long Time Resident of Oneonta Passes Away Yesterday Afternoon.

R. Marvin Reynolds, an esteemed resident of the city for many years, died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home with his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Edmunds, 136 Main street, from an affliction of the heart from which he had suffered for several years. He had been confined to his bed for the past three months and had grown gradually worse until the end came peacefully yesterday. Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Friday at 2 p. m. Rev. Dr. R. M. Johns officiating. Interment will be in Glenwood cemetery by the side of his wife.

Mr. Reynolds was born at Jefferson in 1829 and was the son of Ebenezer B. and Jerusha (Ruland) Reynolds. His early life was spent in his native village and on March 22, 1863, he was united in marriage at Masonville to Phoebe Ann Lakin of East Branch. They commenced married life at Walton, living there for several years and later moving to Sidney Center where they resided for some time. Thirty-five years ago they moved to Oneonta where the family home was on Park street until the death of Mrs. Reynolds in November of 1919. Mr. Reynolds then went to live at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edmunds, where his last days were spent. Mrs. Edmunds being unsparing in her care and devotion. He was employed for many years in the D. & H. shops as a machinist, retiring on account of poor health ten years ago.

Surviving him are four children, Mrs. Arthur Reynolds, Mrs. Lillian Blanchard, George Reynolds and Smith Reynolds, all of Oneonta; and one brother, Reuben Reynolds of Long Beach, Cal., besides 13 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Mr. Reynolds joined the Methodist church when a young man and was for many years a member. Several years ago he joined the Christian Science church, of which he had since been a member. He was a devoted parent and a kind neighbor and friend and as such his death will be noted with regret by a wide circle of friends.

CIRCUS DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY

Street Parade a Feature of Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows—Menagerie Has Been Greatly Enlarged.

Only a few days remain until the majestic Hagenbeck-Wallace circus will pitch its tented world here on Wilcox flats, corner Main and Luther streets, and give two performances, afternoon and evening.

A downtown ticket office will be opened during its stay here at Lewis' jewelry store where tickets will be obtainable at the same prices as charged at the red wagon on the show grounds.

Everything is said to be bright and new this year. So far this season, the circus has received nothing but praise from the cities wherein it has exhibited. The trained animal acts are decided hits, while the many famous performers from Europe are performing daring feats to the bewilderment of the spectators and the headlines of this continent are gaining praise.

There will be a street parade more than one mile long Wednesday morning, which will give a glimpse—a glimpse, that's all—of the many wonderful novelties to be offered at the performances.

The menagerie this season is greatly enlarged and is now numbered among the largest collections of wild animals in the world. The doors will be opened one hour before each performance, so that a thorough visit through it may be enjoyed.

WILL OF WILLIAM WILLIAMS

CHESTNUT STREET BLOCK GOES TO JOSEPH HENDY AND ANNA TREZISE.

Provides for Annuities for Three Sisters in England and Gives Main Residence Property Eventually to W. L. Hendy — $2,000 Legacy to Dio Tregurtha — Life Use of Residence to Mrs. Emma Hollenbeck.

Before Surrogate S. L. Huntington yesterday the will of the late William Williams, the veteran marketman of Oneonta, who died a few weeks since was probated. Anna Grace Trezise and Ralph Murdoch are named as executors. The will is dated Dec. 23, 1921, and is witnessed by L. E. Raymond, esq., and F. H. Winans, both of Franklin.

Mr. Williams gives $2,000 outright to his nephew, Dio Tregurtha, and the tools and fixtures in the market on Chestnut street devised to another nephew, Joseph Hendy. All stock in the market is to be inventoried and Joseph Hendy is given the option to purchase them at inventory prices. All bills due the deceased and all store accounts are to be collected by Anna Grace Trezise, she to receive one-third all sums realized and the remaining two-thirds is to be divided among his three sisters residing in England.

His executors are authorized to purchase securities through any responsible banker for the benefit of his three sisters as follows: An annuity returning $100 to his sister, Elizabeth Williams. An annuity returning a like amount to his sister, Margaret James, and for the sister, Grace Williams, an annuity of $125. The purchase of these annuities and the legacy to Dio Tregurtha, as well as any deficit in the payment of the debts not provided for by personal property he directs shall be a charge upon his block on Chestnut street in which Williams market is located. The deceased authorizes the executors to mortgage such property if they shall see fit to do so.

The block on Chestnut street subject to the above liability is bequeathed in equal shares to Joseph Hendy and Anna Grace Trezise.

The property on Upper Main street, consisting of two houses and a lot is given to the executors. In trust, Mrs. Emma Hollenbeck, of East Sidney, "who has cared for me for many years," the deceased says, is given the life use of the square white house conditioned that it be kept in repair. At her death it goes to William L. Hendy, a nephew, or his heirs. The income from the other house is to be paid to the sisters in England or any survivor and upon the death of the last to survive it goes to William L. Hendy or his heirs.

BURGLARS AT UNADILLA

Joyce Store and That of Unadilla Hardware Company Raided Tuesday Morning.

Unadilla, May 23.—When Fred J. Joyce and Manager Wallace of the Unadilla Hardware companies opened their doors for business this morning they were more surprised than gratified to find that burglars had been there before them. Some time during the night both stores had been broken into, entrance being secured by breaking a window in the rear, and a quantity of goods had in each instance been taken.

In the Joyce store an L. C. Smith typewriter was the principal article of value taken, and along with it was about ten dollars in silver left in the cash register. The Joyce safe had been unlocked, and though the drawers had been thoroughly rummaged there was no negotiable paper secured. A check detector had also been taken and then, it would appear, been laid down and forgotten by the burglars. The loss of Mr. Joyce was probably less than $100.

In the adjoining store of the Unadilla Hardware company, the stockholders in which are C. C. Moore, W. J. Toplit and C. L. Wallace, a bigger haul was secured. A principal article missing was a new adding machine, lately purchased by the company, four automobile tires, many monkey and pipe wrenches of various sizes, numerous jackknives and other articles which would find ready sale. Mr. Wallace continues to note the loss of additional articles and at eight o'clock tonight he estimated his loss at at least $500.

Following the discovery of the burglaries in the morning, the state troopers at Sidney were notified and are investigating the case. Notice was also sent to all surrounding towns and cities. Nothing, however, has as yet been ascertained. The burglars undoubtedly got away with their plunder in an automobile, and in the present condition of the roads and the heavy travel there was nothing to leave a clue behind.

WELSH BARITONE CONCERT

Brilliant Artists Produce Successful Entertainment at First Baptist Church.

A large audience gathered in the parlors of the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock last evening to hear the concert given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. The trio consisted of Glyndwr Jones, Welsh baritone, Miss Agnes Young, reader, a graduate of Emerson college of Oratory at Boston, and Llywelyn Edwards, pianist.

Numbers given by Mr. Jones included: "Friend," "You'd Better Ask Me," "Vale," "Life," and "Where My Caravan is Rested." An appreciative audience responded with insistent and frequent calls for encores. Offerings by Mr. Edwards included: organ solo, "Russian Patrol," piano solo, "Prelude in C Minor," "Welsh Air with Variations." The numbers given by Miss Young included: recitations, "Don't Kick a Ma Dawg," "Lonely Honeymoon," "The Florist Shop," "It Takes a Heap of Living."

The evening's entertainment was most successful and was a fine treat for the music lovers of this vicinity. The audience was most royally entertained by the three capable artists, who displayed extraordinary attainments.

Mr. Jones came to this country last fall and has made an extensive concert tour throughout various states. Mr. Edwards is a native of Wales, born in Llanelli, South Wales. Here he gave his first public concert at the early age of twelve.
